

RUSSELL TWIRLS A ONE-HIT GAME

Davidson Team Unable to Solve His Delivery—Winston a Terror to Men on Bases.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Haleigh, N. C., April 1.—Davidson was an easy victim for A. & M. to-day, the Red and White winning by the score of 7 to 0. Russell pitched a great game, allowing the visitors only one hit and striking out nine men. Although the Techs made a large number of errors, none of these were costly. For the Presbyterians, Graham played a good game, and the pegging of Winston, for A. & M., was perfect, catching six men off their bases and allowing only one stolen base. Olsen was relieved in the box by Bell in the fifth inning, after the Techs had made three successive hits off his delivery. Bell pitched a good game, although a little wild. The score:

MACK'S ATHLETICS SHUT OUT PHILLIES

Baker and Collins Do Splendid Stick Work—Wickoff Sparring With Hiss.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 1.—Connie Mack's Athletics walked away with the first 100 per cent shut-out today, shutting out the Phillies 6 to 0. As neither manager cared to take any chances with their starters, the game cannot be considered as an indication of the abilities of either team. Baker, hero of the 1911 world series, made four hits out of five trips to the plate, and Collins, another regular, got three out of four. Wickoff, for the Athletics, sent the entire nine innings, held the Phillies to six scattered hits.

The stick work of Mack's old line-up was the only feature of the contest.

Say He Resisted Officer.
A. Bassett, forty-two years old, was arrested last night shortly before 11 o'clock at First and Broad streets for being drunk, disorderly and resisting Traffic Officer Sims. When Bassett was taken in custody, it was alleged, he became very unruly and attempted to strike the officer. Not until he was forced to the ground was he finally subdued and held until he was taken to the Second Police Station in a patrol.

The committee held a meeting some weeks ago, which was widely advertised, that complaints against service were to be heard, but no one came forward. Another opportunity will be given to-night.

Chairman Melton has called a subcommittee of the Committee on Ordinance for to-night to act on the application of Gibson v. "FROM THE MANGER TO THE CROSS"

A Reverent Life Story of Jesus of Nazareth,
Produced in Authentic Locations in Egypt and Palestine.

INDORSED BY THE PRESS, THE PULPIT AND THE PUBLIC

DR. PARKHURST

Says:

I yielded myself unreservedly to the influence of the occasion and came away from the representation with the feeling that the transactions in our Lord's life had been brought nearer to me.

DR. J. K. DIXON Says:

From the Manger to the Cross is a wonderful film; it is probably the most expensive and carefully planned film in the world. The Life of Christ from His birth in a manger at Bethlehem to His crucifixion upon the cross at Mount Calvary is presented in moving form. It seemed more like a solemn church service than moving pictures.

BALTIMORE EVENING SUN:

They are a wonderful delineation of the New Testament story of the Man of Galilee. They are splendid examples of historic reality. The settings are dignified, the action graceful. The devotion both to the letter and the spirit of the one supreme life lived on this earth passes before you without a suggestion of the outside world.

BALTIMORE AMERICAN:

This pictorial drama of the redemption of mankind is designed to bring the subject close to the hearts of those who witness it. From the annunciation, with its wonderful suggestion of dawning realization in the eyes of the predestined Virgin Mother, are shown in quick succession, the manger, the shepherds, the wise men and the flight into Egypt.

LOCAL

MINISTERS:

It is truly a wonderful picture, realistic, beautiful to the extreme. I am going home and send my family to see it.

NATIONALS DEFEAT CATHOLIC TEAM

Washington, April 1.—The Nationals had no trouble defeating the Catholic University team at American League Park here to-day, 12 to 4.

Eighteen men in his line-up. Don, a newcomer, and Hughes, the veteran, doing the twirling. They allowed nine hits. Traders did the pitching for the Catholic University team, and was hit safely fifteen times.

Both teams played a loose-fielding game, and there were no particular features.

Gossip of the Links

April 5, Saturday, will mark the opening of the permanent summer greens at the Country Club. This will be accomplished by an eighteen-hole handicap medal play tournament. There will be two prizes; one for those with handicaps of fourteen and under and one for those with handicaps of fifteen and over. The results of the hard work on the putting greens is a vast improvement, and the course is one of the most interesting of its kind, not only in the city but in the entire state. The conditions will be suited for low scoring.

J. C. Taylor, familiarly known as "Old Man Buck," will be out with his handicap harness, for he is determined that no player will win two tournaments with the same handicap. In speaking about handicaps it will be well to state that the task that Mr. Taylor has undertaken is truly an exceedingly hard one, but every golfer can rest assured that in him we have one who, in addition to being a good golfer, can be relied upon to handicap every one systematically, and instead of the golfers raising a fuss about their low handicaps, they should be proud of the fact that they are playing good enough golf to have their handicaps deducted.

Another surprise was handed out to the golf enthusiasts last Saturday afternoon, when John Leary made the sixteenth hole in one. His friends should remind him that his one stroke hole was not made during Lent.

The long-driving of P. Sitterding, Jr., won the March golf tournament with a net score of 65. His score:

Out.....7 4 5 6 3 5 1 5—46
In.....4 5 5 2 4 3 5—39

These monthly tournaments are exciting a great amount of interest, as it keeps every one trying to keep their scores down.

The Country Club, of Atlantic City, has issued its program covering the annual spring golf tourney to be held April 24, 25 and 26. This will be along the usual lines, with the qualifying play at eighteen holes, and provision in the match play for six sixteens.

Those who go to Atlantic City for the tournament will find conditions much improved. The sand traps have been trimmed up considerably and the slides made steeper. In discussing the va-

CUBS WIN GAME IN THE ELEVENTH

Kansas City, April 1.—The Cubs won an eleven-inning game from the Blues 2 to 0 to-day. Ward Miller, batting for Cheney in the eleventh, batted a double back of third base, and Clymer followed with another two-bagger, scoring Miller. Schulte's single scored Clymer. Toney put the bases on the blues in their half, as Cheney had been doing for ten rounds. Cheney allowed but five hits.

Five hundred people followed the contest tense with interest, and unimpaired of a shower which fell toward the close of play, and the score, 4 up and 2 to play, is but suggestive of the interest and closeness of the round.

In the second division Mrs. George C. Dutton, of Oakley, lost in a keen contest 2 down and 1 to play, to Miss Agnes Blanche, of Montclair. Mrs. J. H. Horner, of Oakmont, won in the third division, and Miss Priscilla Bealls, of Uniontown, in the fourth.

One of the longest drives on record was made recently by James A. Donaldson, the professional, of the Glen View Golf Club, near Chicago, who played his winter quarters at San Antonio, Texas. Donaldson's drive, was 365 yards. Several members who saw the performance measured the drive.

BROWNS' TWIRLERS PUZZLE CARDINALS

St. Louis, April 1.—The Cardinals were victims of midseason pitching by Hamilton and Allison, and the Browns won the second game of the spring series to-day 3 to 0. Hamilton was on the hill for six innings and allowed but three hits, only one runner reaching third. The three runs scored off Burk were the result of a wild peg home. Hamilton singled to left, and was scored by Walsh trying to score, but his throw was far over Wingo's head. Walsh and Alexander, who were on bases, scored while Hamilton raced around to third, scoring later on Shotton's long outfield fly.

GIANTS WALLOP MARYVILLE TEAM

Knoxville, Tenn., April 1.—The Giants stopped off here to-day to show the local fans the brand of big league ball they are playing. The Maryville team agreed to take on the champions, and were soundly beaten 9 to 1. Teresa pitched the first six innings, striking out eleven of the opposing batsmen, and he was relieved by Goulet. Captain Doyle led his team in batting, getting three out of four.

Due to the interested and hard work of Sam Cahen, the stage manager of the house; of Isadore Bernstein, the property master, and of C. L. Don't Miss "The Mikado."

So glowing had been the advance notices of "The Mikado," which was given the first of three performances at the Academy of Music last night, for the benefit of the Belle Bryan Day Nursery, that everyone who entered the doors of the theatre last night came straight from that grand old State of Missouri. From "I hope the reports are not exaggerated" to "They gotta show me," ran the expressions of doubting optimism or critical pessimism as the audience poured into the house.

Once inside, the very atmosphere changed from the houn' dog State to the Empire of Japan. The lobby was a mass of purple iris, pink blossoms, and clustering white blossoms, while over in the far corner stood a rustic pergola covered with drooping wisteria, under which stood pretty women selling sweets for charity. Within the doors of the theatre, the already receptive converts were greeted by young girls in gorgeous kimonos, who sold programs and little bouquets.

All delightful, all charming, and of a nature to create in an audience a good-humored willingness to overlook faults, defects, and crudities, if there had been any. But there were none. Putting to one side all thought of the high purpose for which the performance was given, the remembrance of the charm of environment, all the fragrance of the atmosphere, and, viewing it coldly and as a performance of an opera, it was astonishingly good, even to those who had heard bits of rehearsal now and then and had expected much. Not simply astounding, but absolutely good. Well worth more than well worth—the price of admission.

Due to the interested and hard work of Sam Cahen, the stage manager of the house; of Isadore Bernstein, the property master, and of C. L. Caldwell, the scenic artist, the two sets were complete, correct and artistic. Under the careful rehearsal of Musical Director Stein, the orchestra did work of which we should all feel proud, and because of the united efforts of the faithful workers who form the active staff of the Girls' Auxiliary of the Nursery, yet who modestly remained in the background during the performance, the cast and chorus were admirably costumed. GARDNER, SOX STAR

Larry Gardner, the fleet third sacker of the Boston Red Sox, who is generally considered the best custodian of the difficulty corner in the American League. Manager Jake Stahl prizes highly the ability of Gardner and has been quoted as saying that he will be doing bench duty a long time before Larry is relieved of his steady berth at third.

that the unusually good make-up of the whole company was largely due to the skillful hands of Mrs. Alvin M. Smith. To Alvin M. Smith himself and to Professor Moses Stein goes the credit for having produced an opera, brilliant and beautiful in itself, in a manner worthy of the work. Not once was the prompter called upon, and the one single stage wait probably passed almost unnoticed, while the chorus moved on and off with the precision and promptness of veterans. The dialogue was properly read and enunciated, and the small bits of business that go so far toward making the success of a performance were deftly introduced.

And while the opera sounds comparatively simple and easy, it is very far from being either. Lovely and tuneful as it is, it is also extremely tricky, in the scoring for chorus as well as for principals, and that they all, principals and chorus, sang it extremely well speaks loudly for Professor Stein's ability as a coach. He is especially to be congratulated for having "sped up" the chorus numbers so as to heighten the apparent volume emanating from his forty and odd singers.

Indeed, the whole performance moved with a snap and vim rarely found in amateur exhibitions, and frequently lacking in those of a professional character. The final curtain fell at 11:05 o'clock.

As to the cast—and there's the rub. There was literally not one incompetent among all the principals. Judging them from the purely professional standpoint, but when it comes to selecting those of exceptional ability—and there were several who sang and played "rings around" those who assumed the same roles in the all-star revival of a few years ago—I quit.

Mrs. Norman Call was charming as Yum-Yum, singing artistically and with a lovely voice; Miss Emily Wade's Pitti-Sing was adorable, altogether fascinating; Miss Mary Covington Evans made the bit of Peep-Bo a winsome little creation; Little Peter Miller was a whole vaudeville act as the Mikado's attendant; C. Ralph Ludwig played and sang Nanki-Poo romantically and in as pretty a tenor as one would want to hear; Herbert Featherstone was as unctuous and easy as any Peep-Bah of the professional stage; Charles Harlan was a stately and effective Mikado; and H. Goodwin, kin, the Ko-Ko, and Otis M. Alfriend, the Katisha of the east, created spasms of mirth by their really brilliant foolery.

And there was Norman Call, who, with his beautiful, sonorous voice, practically led—well, to start again; who, with his hitherto unsuspected acting ability, showed that—well, anyhow, Norman Call was Pitch-Tush.

Altogether, "The Mikado" is so well staged, acted and sung by these amateurs that it needs no appeal, not even that of the noble cause for which it is offered, to justify its warm support. W. Douglas Gordon.
